Introduction to Cambridge ESOL

■ University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations

University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations (Cambridge ESOL) provides an extensive range of examinations, certificates and diplomas for learners and teachers of English, with a tradition of language assessment dating back to 1913. Cambridge ESOL is a part of the Cambridge Assessment group, which is a department of the University of Cambridge and one of the world's largest educational assessment agencies*.

Cambridge ESOL examinations are suitable for learners of all nationalities, whatever their first language and cultural background, and there are examinations suitable for learners of almost any age. The range of Cambridge ESOL examinations includes specialist examinations in Business English and English for Academic Purposes, as well as tests for young learners and a suite of certificates and diplomas for language teachers.

The examinations cover all four language skills – reading, writing, listening and speaking. They include a range of tasks which assess candidates' ability to use English, so that in preparing for the examinations, candidates develop the skills they need to make practical use of the language in a variety of contexts. Above all, what the Cambridge ESOL examinations assess is the ability to communicate effectively in English.

Cambridge ESOL is committed to providing examinations of the highest possible quality. This commitment is underpinned by an extensive programme of research and evaluation, and by continuous monitoring of the marking and grading of all Cambridge ESOL examinations. Of particular importance is the rigorous set of procedures which are used in the production and pretesting of question papers.

■ The Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE)

Cambridge ESOL is a member of the Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE), which was formed in 1990. The members are all providers of language examinations and certificates from countries within Europe.

The principal objectives of ALTE are as follows:

- to promote the transnational recognition of certification, especially in Europe
- to establish common standards for all stages of the language testing process, i.e. test development, question and materials writing, test administration, marking and grading, reporting of test results, test analysis and reporting of findings
- to collaborate on joint projects and in the exchange of ideas and know-how.

*Cambridge Assessment is the operating name for the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES).

Cambridge ESOL examinations fulfil the Code of Practice established by ALTE. This Code of Practice focuses on the responsibilities of both examination providers and examination users and covers four main areas:

- developing examinations
- interpreting examination results
- striving for fairness
- informing examination takers.

For more information on ALTE please visit www.ALTE.org

■ Official accreditation in the UK

CPE has been accredited by the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority (QCA), the statutory regulatory authority for external qualifications in England, and its counterparts in Wales and Northern Ireland, at Level 3 in the National Qualifications Framework, under the title 'Cambridge ESOL Level 3 Certificate in English (ESOL)'.

■ Key features of Cambridge ESOL examinations

Cambridge ESOL undertakes:

- to assess language skills at a range of levels, each of them having a clearly defined relevance to the needs of language learners
- to assess skills which are directly relevant to the range of uses for which learners will need the language they have learned, and which cover the four language skills – reading, writing, listening and speaking – as well as knowledge of language structure and use
- to provide accurate and consistent assessment of each language skill at the appropriate level
- to relate the examinations to the teaching curriculum in such a way that they encourage positive learning experiences, and to seek to achieve a positive impact wherever possible
- to endeavour to be fair to all candidates, whatever their national, ethnic and linguistic background, gender or disability.

Cambridge ESOL examinations are designed around four essential qualities: validity, reliability, impact and practicality. Validity is normally taken to be the extent to which a test can be shown to produce scores which are an accurate reflection of the candidate's true level of language skills. Reliability concerns the extent to which test results are stable, consistent and accurate, and therefore the extent to which they can be depended on for making decisions about the candidate. Impact concerns the effects, beneficial or otherwise, which an examination has on the candidates and other users, whether these are educational, social, economic or political, or various combinations of these. Practicality can be defined as the extent to which an examination is practicable in terms of the resources needed to produce and administer it. All these factors underpin the development and production of Cambridge ESOL examinations.

Introduction to CPE

■ The level of CPE

CPE is designed to offer a high-level qualification in the language to those wishing to use English for professional or study purposes. The CPE examination contains some tasks which are likely to be more suitable in content for candidates who have achieved a certain degree of maturity in their handling of abstract ideas and concepts.

CPE is at Level C2 of the Common European Framework, and a description of this level is given below in terms of:

- what material learners can handle
- what learners can be expected to be able to do.

The type of material a CPE candidate can deal with

At this level the learner is approaching the linguistic competence of an educated native speaker, and is able to use the language in a range of culturally appropriate ways. Users at this level are able to improve their use of the language by extending their vocabulary and refining their usage and command of style and register rather than by learning about new areas of grammar. Their level of competence gives them access to the press and other media, and to areas of culture such as drama, film and literature. Success in examinations at this level may be seen as proof that the learner is able to cope with high-level academic work.

What a CPE candidate can do

Examinations at Level C2 may be used as proof of the level of language necessary to work at a managerial or professional level or follow a course of academic study at university level.

The ALTE 'Can Do' Project

The Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE) has developed a framework which covers six levels of language proficiency aligned to the Council of Europe Common European Framework. Research carried out by ALTE has shown what language learners can typically do at each level. The table below gives some examples at CPE level of typical general ability plus ability in each of the skill areas and in a range of contexts.

'Can Do' summary

Typical abilities	Listening and Speaking	Reading and Writing
Overall general ability	CAN advise on or talk about complex or sensitive issues, understanding colloquial references and dealing confidently with hostile questions.	CAN understand documents, correspondence and reports, including the finer points of complex texts. CAN write letters on any subject and full notes of meetings or seminars with good expression and accuracy.
Social & Tourist	CAN talk about complex or sensitive issues without awkwardness.	CAN (for example, when looking for accommodation) understand a tenancy agreement in detail, including its main implications. CAN write letters on any subject with good expression and accuracy.
Work	CAN advise on/handle complex, delicate or contentious issues, such as legal or financial matters, to the extent that he/she has the necessary specialist knowledge.	CAN understand reports and articles likely to be encountered during his/her work, including complex ideas expressed in complex language. CAN make full and accurate notes and continue to participate in a meeting or seminar.
Study	CAN understand colloquial asides and cultural allusions.	CAN access all sources of information quickly and reliably. CAN make accurate and complete notes during the course of a lecture, seminar or tutorial.

■ Varieties of English

Candidates' responses to tasks in the Cambridge ESOL examinations are acceptable in varieties of English which would enable candidates to function in the widest range of international contexts. Candidates are expected to use a particular variety with some degree of consistency in areas such as spelling, and not for example switch from using a British spelling of a word to an American spelling of the same word in the same written response to a given task.

■ Recognition

CPE is recognised as fulfilling English language entrance requirements by many higher education institutions and corporate bodies across the world. More information about recognition is available from centres, British Council offices, Cambridge ESOL and from www.CambridgeESOL.org

■ CPE candidature

Information is collected about the CPE candidates at each session, when candidates fill in a Candidate Information Sheet. The candidates for CPE come from a wide range of backgrounds and take the examination for a number of different reasons. The following points summarise the characteristics of the current CPE candidature.

- Nationality
CPE is taken by candidates throughout the world in about 90 countries, although the total number of nationalities represented in the candidature is over 170. The majority of these candidates enter for CPE in European and South American countries. Many candidates also take the examination in the UK.
- Age
About 70% of candidates are under 25, with the average age being about 23. In some countries the average age is lower (e.g. in Greece it is about 19).
- Gender
About 63% of candidates are female.
- Employment
Most candidates are students, although there are considerable differences in the proportion of students in different countries.
- Exam preparation
A large proportion of candidates (about 80%) undertake a preparatory course before taking the examination.
- Reasons for taking CPE
Candidates' reasons for wanting an English language qualification are roughly distributed as follows:
 - for study (36%)
 - for work (46%)
 - other (18%).

■ CPE administration

CPE is held each year in June and December in over 1,000 centres worldwide. Candidates must enter through a recognised centre.

■ Grading and results

The five CPE papers total 200 marks, after weighting. Each paper is weighted to 40 marks. A candidate's overall CPE grade is based on the total score gained by the candidate in all five papers. It is not necessary to achieve a satisfactory level in all five papers in order to pass the examination.

The overall grade boundaries (A, B, C, D and E) are set according to the following information:

- statistics on the candidature
- statistics on the overall candidate performance
- statistics on individual items, for those parts of the examination for which this is appropriate (Papers 1, 3 and 4)
- advice, based on the performance of candidates and recommendations of examiners, where this is relevant (Papers 2 and 5)
- comparison with statistics from previous years' examination performance and candidature.

Results are reported as three passing grades (A, B and C) and two failing grades (D and E). The percentage of marks needed to achieve each grade may vary from session to session depending on the precise difficulty of the individual papers which make up the particular examination. The approximate ranges of percentages for each grade at CPE are typically as follows:

Passing Grades		Failing Grades
Grade A	80% and above	Grade D	55% to 59%
Grade B	75% to 79%	Grade E	54% and below
Grade C	60% to 74%

Statements of results are sent out to all candidates and include a graphical display of the candidate's performance in each paper. These are shown against the scale Exceptional – Good – Borderline – Weak, and indicate the candidate's relative performance in each paper.

■ Notification of results

Statements of results are issued through centres approximately two months after the examination has been taken. Certificates are issued about six weeks after the issue of statements of results. Enquiries about results may be made through Local Secretaries, within a month of the issue of statements of results.

■ Special requirements

Special requirements covers three main areas: special arrangements, special consideration and malpractice.

- Special arrangements:
These are available for candidates with a permanent or long-term disability, such as a visual or hearing difficulty, or a temporary difficulty such as a broken hand, or ear infection affecting a candidate's ability to hear clearly. They may include extra time, separate accommodation or equipment, Braille transcription, etc. Consult the Cambridge ESOL Local Secretary in your area for more details as soon as possible.
- Special consideration:
Cambridge ESOL will give special consideration to candidates affected by adverse circumstances immediately before or during an examination. Special consideration can be given where an application is sent through the centre and is made within ten working days of the examination date. Examples of acceptable reasons for giving special consideration are in cases of illness or other unexpected events.
- Malpractice:
Cambridge ESOL will consider cases where candidates are suspected of copying, collusion or breaking the examination regulations in some other way. Results may be withheld because further investigation is needed or because of infringement of regulations. Centres are notified if a candidate's results have been investigated.

CPE support

■ Course materials

A number of coursebooks and practice materials are available from publishers. A list of UK publishers which produce material related to the examinations is available from Cambridge ESOL Information and is on the Cambridge ESOL website. CPE requires an all-round language ability and this should be borne in mind when selecting course materials. Most coursebooks will need to be supplemented; care should be taken to ensure that coursebooks and practice materials selected accurately reflect the content and format of the examination.

N.B. Cambridge ESOL does not undertake to advise on textbooks or courses of study.

■ Past papers and examination reports

Cambridge ESOL produces past examination papers, which can be used for practice, and examination reports, which provide a general view of how candidates performed overall and on each paper and offer guidance on the preparation of candidates. Details of how you can order past papers and examination reports, and a downloadable order form, are available from

www.CambridgeESOL.org/support/pubs/index.cfm

The sample question papers included in this handbook have been produced to reflect the format of the examination. However, candidates are strongly advised not to concentrate unduly on working through practice tests and examinations as this will not by itself make them more proficient in the different skills.

■ On-line support

Cambridge ESOL provides an on-line resource for teachers, designed to help them understand the examinations better and to prepare candidates more effectively.

The Teaching Resources website can be found at www.CambridgeESOL.org/teach

In some countries, a dedicated Cambridge ESOL website is available. These websites can be found at [www.CambridgeESOL.\(initials for country\)](http://www.CambridgeESOL.(initials for country)), e.g. www.CambridgeESOL.gr (Greece) www.CambridgeESOL.ch (Switzerland)

■ Seminars for teachers

Cambridge ESOL offers a wide range of seminars designed for teachers concerned with the examinations; some are also suitable as introductions for administrators, school directors, etc. Some seminars are intended to provide information and support for teachers who are familiar with the examinations, and others can be used to introduce teachers to established examinations and also to new or revised examinations. Contact Cambridge ESOL Information for further details.

■ Further information

Copies of the regulations and details of entry procedure, current fees and further information about this and other Cambridge examinations can be obtained from the Cambridge ESOL Local Secretary in your area, or from the address on the back cover of this handbook. In some areas this information can also be obtained from the British Council.
